Nothing Like This Happened

OUR NURSERY IS ONE OF THE OLDEST. Amherst Call came with his family from Vermont in 1815 to settle on the same site where our nursery now stands. Arriving in covered wagons drawn by oxen, they cleared the land and built a log cabin beside a creek. The same creek still winds through our nursery, unchanged, except that a lily pond has been formed at the spot where they first settled. As the sons grew older they cleared more land and finally built a home a few feet from the first log cabin. This sturdy house still stands and has been the Call Homestead for generation after generation. Following tradition the present owner makes his home there, and his young son will carry on the work of the nursery in future years.
